Pursuant to 37 C.F.R 1.109 and M.P.E.P 1302.14, the following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance:

The prior arts of record, French et al. [U.S. Patent No. 6,330,601] and others, do not teach a programmable remote device management system coupled to at least one communication network switch over a computer network. The programmable remote device management system comprising a command processing engine and a protocol translation engine. The command processing engine adapted to receive at least one switch command via a user interface and processed the switch command and provided at least one validated switch command to the network switch via the protocol translation engine. The protocol translation engine coupled to the command processing engine for providing the at least one validated switch command to the network switch and the computer network to control predetermined attributes of the communication network switch. Moreover, the prior art of record do not teach a communication network switch comprising a master agent, a plurality of sub-agents, a configuration controller and a data communication scheduler, wherein the data communication scheduler in communication with the configuration controller, wherein the master agent is operative to receive and redirect at least a first validated switch command to a predefined one of the plurality of sub-agents for processing the first validated switch command to provide at least a first switch command and wherein the configuration controller receives and processes the first switch command to provide at least a first actuation signal to at least one interface port located on the network switch to actuate at least one element of the at least one interface port to a predetermined state for controlling predetermined equipment coupled to the at least one element of the at least one interface port.

The examiner considers the applicants' claims 1-20 to be allowable based on the claim interpretation and the aforesaid prior arts of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the Issue Fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably
